

An abstract painting on a white canvas. The composition is dominated by thick, expressive brushstrokes of various colors. A large, vibrant green shape occupies the lower right quadrant, with a smaller teal stroke above it. To the right, there are vertical strokes of purple and blue. A horizontal band of white and yellow paint runs across the middle. The bottom edge features a row of white and light-colored strokes. In the lower center, there are vertical strokes of red and blue, with a red stroke below them. The overall style is gestural and textured, with visible brushwork and a rich palette of colors.
