A series of debates with contemporary Slovak authors
The County House Concert Hall

Press Release

Besides projects and activities related to fine art, Nitra Gallery also opens its premises to other, non-fine-art media. One of these projects is a series of debates with contemporary Slovak authors that Nitra Gallery started back in 2006. All of the debates are moderated by the popular host Dado Nagy.

Autumn Debates Schedule:

September 29, 2022, 5pm

Lukáš Onderčanin

Lukáš Onderčanin (1990) is a Slovak journalist. He has been working at the daily newspaper SME as a foreign affairs political correspondent since 2014. He has been nominated three times for the Journalism Award before winning the Open Society Award in 2021 for his report on the freedom of media in Hungary. His book debut is a documentary novel titled Utópia v Leninovej záhrade: Československá komúna Interhelpo [Utopia in Lenin's Garden: Czechoslovak Commune Interhelpo].

Jana Micenková

Jana Micenková graduated from the University of Prešov in Slovak Language and Literature and then from FAMU in Scriptwriting and Dramaturgy. In 2013, she founded an independent theatre ensemble in Prague called Nekroteatro where she still works as a playwright and director. Her debut, a collection of short stories Sladký život [Sweet Life] (2017) finished in the top ten of the Anasoft litera award. Her second book, a novel titled Krv je len voda [Blood Is Just Water], published in 2021, is also nominated for the Anasoft litera 2022 award.

November 22, 2022, 5pm

Mirka Ábelová

Mirka Ábelová graduated from the Faculty of Arts at Comenius University in Bratislava in journalism in 2009. Her first published work was a part of a short story anthology titled Sólo pre 9 hlasov [Solo for 9 Voices] in 2011, which is when she also published her own collection of poems titled Striptíz [Strip-tease]. In 2018, she came up with a collection called Večný pocit nedele [It Always Feels Like Sunday]. She hosts Radio_FM's ten-minute poetry-focused show called Sunday Moment of Poetry.
